

Germany Is Cut Up and All Industry Restricted By Big Three

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER
WASHINGTON, Aug. 3.—(AP)—A master plan for reconstructing a peaceful Europe emerged today from the decisions of the Big Three Conference at Potsdam. But Russia's role in the conflict with Japan remains cloaked in secrecy.
The plan provides for a Germany, shorn of territories, wealth and power. The nation that once aspired the world dominion is to be limited to farming and "peaceful, domestic industries." And it is to be subjected to years of Allied control until it earns its way into the family of sovereign nations.
The plan provides also for a reshaped Poland, augmented by huge slices of Germany and stretching westward to within 50 miles of Berlin, and for the addition to Russia of one-third of the territory of German East Prussia.
It leaves most other decisions, however, to future peace settlements. And for these the Big Three agreed on a five-power council, including China and France in addition to the United States, Britain and Russia. Assuming China and France agree to the plan, the five foreign ministers will meet in London by September 1.

The big-power pattern was disclosed in a 6,000-word report on the Potsdam meeting of Mr. Truman, Generalissimo Stalin and Prime Minister Attlee released simultaneously at yesterday in Washington, London and Moscow. The conference ended Wednesday night. It began July 17.
The report deals almost exclusively with political questions. A single reference to the war with Japan crops up in a section on Italy noting the former Axis nation "has now joined with the Allies in the struggle against Japan."
WASHINGTON, Aug. 3.—(AP)—Vigorous Republican criticism of the Potsdam agreements gave President Truman notice today there may be Senate trouble ahead for the peace treaties that document envisages.
In a statement lent added significance because of his chairmanship of the minority steering committee, Senator Taft (R-Ohio) contended the Big Three's agreement to give Poland at least temporary control of an eastern slice of Germany "sows the seeds of future war."

In a paragraph-by-paragraph analysis of the understandings reached by President Truman, Prime Minister Attlee and Generalissimo Stalin, Taft found room to praise only what he called the "harsh" terms imposed upon Germany.
(Please Turn to Page Two)

The specific accomplishments covered in the Potsdam report:
1. Peace settlements—Mr. Truman, Stalin and Attlee agreed on a United States proposal for creation of a five-power council consisting of the foreign ministers of the United States, Britain, Russia, France and China. These are the nations which plan to take a major responsibility for maintaining peace in the world as permanent members of the projected United Nations Security Council.
The council's first job would be to work out and submit to the United Nations a peace treaty for Italy. Then it would work out treaties for Romania, Bulgaria, Hungary and Finland. Once these former Axis Allies had signed the treaties they would become eligible for membership in the United Nations.
Countries which were neutral in the war against Germany are invited to seek United Nations membership—except for Spain so long as it is ruled by the Franco government.
This leaves territorial settlements as the biggest remaining job in reorganizing Europe, and the foreign ministers council would

Meandering Along the Main Stem By WASH FAYETTE

"You had that all wrong in yesterday's paper about that chewing gum factory."
It was about 6:30 A. M. and there were very, very few people on the Main Stem as I walked along toward the office, feeling rather good in the fresh morning air after a sultry day-before. That remark kinda spoiled my reverie and I started looking.
Looking out of second floor window of the Elks Hall, with a big grin spread all over his face, was William Backenstoe — just plain Billy to nearly everyone who knows him despite his dapper and quiet dignified manner. And there was my oracle.
"Why, no," he said, "that was Jim Deere...he used to be postmaster here...Bill Bybee just had a pop shop and Jim made that Maple Leaf gum...sure I can remember it...that's only been 45 or 50 years ago."
So, that's the way it goes. Personally, I haven't the faintest recollection of either the Maple Leaf or the pop or the places where they were made, only the names strike a responsive chord in my memory. These echoes of the past are passed along to you because they are interesting, and I know that if there are any gaps in the stories someone, just like Billy, will come along and fill them in.

MEAT INCREASE IS IN PROSPECT

Quotas of Non-Inspected Slaughterers To Be Raised

WASHINGTON, Aug. 3.—(AP)—Custom meat slaughterers probably will come under regulations permitting non-federally inspected slaughterers to have their quotas increased under certain conditions, an agriculture department official said today.
An order by Secretary Anderson providing that non-federally inspected slaughterers may be certified and have their quotas lifted as provided under the Patman Amendment to the re-enacted Price Control Act became effective July 16.
However, the official said, there was a question as to whether custom slaughterers were included under the original order. Custom slaughterers are individuals or companies who buy cattle and have them slaughtered at established abattoirs or packing houses.
He emphasized that there would be no "blanket" lifting of quotas for any non-federally inspected slaughterers, including the custom slaughterers, and all will be handled on an individual basis.
Conditions under which slaughter plans may be certified and thus have their quotas lifted require:
That OPA price, rationing, and other regulations are being observed; the meat will move in legitimate trade channels within legal price ceilings; the plant meets sanitary standards prescribed in the regulations; inspection by qualified veterinary before and after slaughter, and the plant will provide meat for government agencies as required.

Laval Admits Plot To Defeat France

But, He Says Remark Was in Jest When He Is Brought from Prison To Testify at Petain's Treason Trial—Ex-Nazi Collaborator Also Bares Complicated Secret Agreements

By RYMAN MORIN
PARIS, Aug. 3.—(AP)—Pierre Laval ruefully admitted at the treason trial of Marshal Petain today that he had said "here is where we overthrow the French Republic" when he was pushing through acts which made the old soldier a virtual dictator. He contended his remark was a jest.
"I am not a Fascist! I am not a Nazi! I love the Republic," shouted the haggard, white-tied former chief of government of Petain's Vichy regime.
After recounting numerous secrets of France in the days before and after the armistice, including a military alliance with Mussolini after 1936 "against German aggression," Laval was confronted by M. Pomaret, former secretary general of the Senate.
Pomaret recalled the fateful July 10, 1940, meeting at which three constitutional acts were passed giving the marshal full powers. He said Laval asked him to get the signature of Jules Jeanneret, Senate president, commenting: "this is where we overthrow the Republic."
Judge Paul Mongibeaux, who had prodded numerous hostile questions at the former premier, brought under heavy guard from Fresnes prison, asked if he used those words.
"I cannot deny it," Laval said. "I may have pronounced those words, but only as a joke."
An angry murmur arose in the sultry courtroom, delaying the trial.
Answering a question by Mongibeaux, Laval admitted he had said "I desire a German victory."
He testified that he made the statement to make the Germans believe he was on their side.
Laval will continue his testimony tomorrow. Guards escorted him back to his cell when court recessed at 5:35 P. M.
His disclosure about the secret pact with Italy came early in his testimony.
He denied too that he "hated England." He asserted that in the turbulent '30s, while war was being spawned, King George V sent Sir Samuel Hoare, former British foreign secretary who is now Lord Templewood, to Laval "to find a solution together with me."
He told of a secret conversation with the Prince of Wales, now Duke of Windsor, in an effort to solve the crisis with Italy over Ethiopia.
Laval asserted the Hoare-Laval agreement between France and Britain whereby Mussolini would have gained control of two thirds of Ethiopia was negotiated with the full knowledge of Stanley Baldwin's government. (In England, Lord Templewood declined comment.)
Laval excoriated the British-German naval agreement which he said was executed in contravention of an agreement with France and without French knowledge.
He testified, as a witness for the court, that his celebrated break with Petain came about because "I insisted on continuing."

ISLANDS CUT OFF FROM SUPPLIES

Increase in Fighting in China Soon Indicated

By LEONARD MILLIMAN
(By the Associated Press)
A complete aerial blockade has cut off Japan from any aid from Asia where a huge Allied offensive is expected soon, American commanders said today shortly after reporting 119 more Japanese vessels have been sunk or damaged.
The air blockade was announced by Superfort headquarters. A spokesman said every harbor of Japan and Korea has been virtually closed by history's most extensive air-borne mining operation.
Whatever shipping manages to run the gantlet of mines is hunted down by patrolling American aircraft from Okinawa.
Jap Invasion Chatter
Japanese broadcasts said American naval forces "recently concentrated 500 warships, including battleships and cruisers," in the Okinawa area to support an invasion of Japan.
The broadcast, based on an editorial in the Tokyo newspaper Yomiuri Hochi, said the United States could throw 40 divisions into an invasion today. It predicted no landing assault on the home islands would be attempted until early next year but admitted amphibious troops might land within the next two months.
The expectation of major fighting on the continent was voiced by Lt. Gen. Albert C. Wedemeyer, Jr., U. S. commander in China. Such a campaign, he said, would be supported by the American-trained, American-equipped Chinese forces who do so well in the reconquest of northern Burma.
Chinese Paratroops
The Chinese high command announced a renewed drive on the Kwangsi front today and Gen. Wedemeyer indicated that American-trained Chinese, including parachute troops, would soon launch large-scale operations against the Japanese.
Gen. Wedemeyer, commander of U. S. forces in China, disclosed that Chinese parachute troops have who been training at Kunming were shaping up well. Kunming is about 520 miles west-southwest of Chuanhsien.
He also declared supply shipments over the hump were increasing but that "our goal is sea communications."
Other Chinese forces are being coached in the U. S. style by Americans. Ultimate goal, Wedemeyer said, is the reopening of coastal ports to supply Chinese troops. Presumably this would involve an American landing on the China coast.
China Drive Renewed
Wedemeyer's statements, were accompanied by a renewed drive by Generalissimo Chiang Kai-Shek's forces in southeast China. They were reported hammering against stubborn and reinforced Japanese 67 miles northeast of Kweilin, recently recaptured U. S. airbase city.
In other land sections, Yanks hunted down cornered Japanese generals in the northern Philippines and Australians were supported by their own light naval units in the reconquest of northern Solomon Islands. British forces fighting through southern Burma's monsoons have killed 8,000.

Fifty pound watermelons that bring five cents per pound or $2.50 for a melon of the above weight, have appeared in the local markets over night. I believe Harmon Welty, policeman, made the first purchase of a 50 pound melon.
The new melons are huge, long, green and white, and I would guess they come from Tennessee, for I have seen field after field of the same kind growing in the chocolate or reddish soil of that state during motoring trips through it.
Most of the melons offered in the market here to date have been the "cannonball" dark green type.

U. S. FOOD SUPPLIES FACE FURTHER DRAIN

Belt-tightening Necessary To Feed War Victims
LONDON, Aug. 3.—(AP)—Herbert H. Lehman, director general of the United Nations Relief and Rehabilitation Administration, said today the people in the United States would have to undergo further food-belt tightening to supply Europe's needs this winter.
Economic conditions confronting Europe, he told a press conference, "will be such as to strain the political and economic structure of the continent so seriously that the consequences may do incalculable harm to our hopes for a permanent and peaceful settlement in European affairs."
Lehman held out hope that the greatest strain would be over by the harvest season of 1946, provided there was good weather and re-establishment of communications.

HEARING TO BE HELD ON REVENUE BONDS

Purchases by Banks To Be Studied Carefully

COLUMBUS, Aug. 3.—(AP)—A hearing on proposed regulations for the purchase of "revenue bonds" by banks will be held here Sept. 4. H. E. Cook, state superintendent of banks, has announced.
The last general assembly passed legislation permitting banks to invest in bonds issued for enterprises such as municipal waterworks, which meet obligations out of revenues, subject to conditions prescribed by the banking superintendent and the banking advisory board. The bill becomes effective Sept. 29.
At present permission for banks to invest in "revenue bonds" must come from the banking superintendent.
Cook said the proposed regulations would set up qualifications for such bonds and leave their purchase up to the institutions.
He added that "revenue bonds" issued by towns of less than 1,500 population still would require purchase approval of the state banking superintendent.

18,000 OUT ON STRIKE AT YOUNGSTOWN MILL

YOUNGSTOWN, Aug. 3.—(AP)—Some 1,800 employees of the Youngstown Sheet and Tube Co.'s Brier Hill Plant remained idle today after a membership meeting voted unanimously to defy back-to-work orders issued by the Regional War Labor Board in Cleveland and international officers of the CIO-United Stevedores.
The stoppage, which halted all operations except coke ovens, began Monday when 32 maintenance men walked out demanding definite job assignments. They also protested WLB delay in ruling on issues of an 11-day strike at the plant two months ago.

37,000 DISCHARGED IN OHIO IN SIX MO.

CLEVELAND, Aug. 3.—(AP)—Almost 37,000 Ohio service men were discharged during the first six months of 1945, Orin Schmitz, state veterans employment representative of the U. S. Employment Service, declared today.
More than 77,000 Ohioans—only a tenth of the number inducted into the service have been discharged in the last two and a half years, Schmitz said. Totals were 24,712 in 1944 and 15,681 in 1943. The USES official said he did not have records before January, 1943.
Schmitz reported the number of Ohio men discharged rose from 3,685 during January this year to 11,003 in July and now totals 386 to 750 a day.

SOLDIER FROM OHIO WOUNDED 5 TIMES

Last Two Purple Hearts Come From Freaks

WITH THE 11TH AIRBORNE DIVISION, Luzon, Aug. 3.—(AP)—Wounded on five separate occasions during the battle for Luzon, Cpl. Archie Miller, 21, of Portsmouth, O., has won the nickname "The Purple Heart kid."
He hopes it may pay off with a trip home, because the 25 points from wounds put him over the 85-limit for a discharge.
Miller has been hit twice by mortar fragments, once by grenade splinters and twice by rifle bullets. He suffered wounds in the head, neck, shoulder, hand, jaw and leg.
The fourth incident was the strangest. Only two days after he had been wounded in the hand a Japanese rifle bullet struck his own rifle and drove a splinter from the stock into his forehead. The deflected bullet then penetrated his leg. That put him in a hospital 19 days.
The fifth wounding was dull, according to Miller. A bullet hit his helmet and merely lacerated his scalp.
Miller's wife resides at New Burlington, Ohio.

SURPRISE MILK CLEAN-UP STARTED AT MIDDLETOWN

MIDDLETOWN, Aug. 3.—(AP)—Dr. L. C. Neer and John Otterbein, of the Butler County Health Department, yesterday took samples of milk from every dairy supplying this area in what Dr. Neer described as a "surprise checkup" on the producers.
Dr. Neer said similar tests are made once a month by the health department, and added: "By making these checks often, and without warning, we have raised the standard of milk sold here."

WORKERS MADE ILL BY FOOD POISONING

Thirteen Sent to Hospital Are Recovering

LORAIN, O., Aug. 3.—(AP)—Approximately 50 employees of the National Tube Co. stricken with food poisoning apparently caused by meat loaf served in the plant cafeteria were believed out of danger today.
Thirteen of the victims were hospitalized but all were said to be in fairly good condition and doctors indicated they would be able to leave this morning. State Highway Patrolmen estimated more than 35 others were treated in their homes.
Dr. George M. Blank, Company physician, said one of 150 meat loaves served in the cafeteria was believed to have been contaminated. The cafeteria is operated, under lease, by a private caterer.

ARTIFICIAL HAND MADE BY DENTIST

WASHINGTON, Aug. 3.—(AP)—A Navy dentist reported today he has developed an artificial hand which combines utility, durability, life-like appearance and comfort in wearing.
Lt. Comdr. Lamar W. Harris of the Naval Dental Corps said the hand, made of a newly perfected rubberlike plastic material, provides a strong thumb and forefinger grip with a concealed operating mechanism.
Harris, who produced the hand at the dental school of the Navy's Bethesda, Md., Medical Center, said it combines the best features of two other appliances now issued by the armed forces.

Boys Fighting Japs Grow Cynical

They've Been Away Long Time and Discharges Slow Despite Piled Up Points

By ROBBIN COONS
SOMEWHERE IN THE PACIFIC—(AP)—His young face was strong and hard and his eyes were campaign medals in themselves—eloquent of bitter lessons learned, of war seen and felt and of time dragging on and on.
"She's wondering," he said, pocketing the letter he'd been reading, "if maybe, with all my points, I'll make it home by Christmas. God, so am I!"
The longing for home is intense and universal. Another soldier complains: "Points? I got more'n enough for a discharge. Been over 37 months—a year longer'n you need to be eligible for furlough. Got a baby I've never seen. Can't get a furlough now, though, unless I sign a waiver agreeing to come back and stay till the Nips are licked. I won't sign it—and I'm going nuts!"
Behind the fronts, as on the firing line, each man's war is a personal thing. The foxhole point of view does not encompass the

CHILLICOTHE TO STOP FREE COUNTRY RUNS

Unfair to Taxpayers of That City Says Fire Chief Loren Gant

Faced with numerous calls to rural areas surrounding Chillicothe, where no contract with township officials or with private individuals exists, Fire Chief Loren Gant of that city has announced that no more runs will be made without contracts having been made for such protection.

In making the announcement, which deals with a question recently up before city council in Washington C. H., and which is still more or less unsettled, Chief Gant said that firemen, under the state code, are eligible for Workmen's Compensation or Firemen's Pension Fund Compensation if injured when responding to a call from subdivisions under contract with the city.

If firemen are injured in answering calls to subdivisions not under contract with the city, Gant pointed out, firemen could collect disability payments from the pension fund, but it was not deemed wise or fair to municipal tax payers and the firemen to make the pension fund liable for injuries incurred by firemen on any but contract calls.

As result of the decision, the fire department of Chillicothe will make no further country runs until contracts are made, and it is stated that the same rule applies to inhalator runs.

On July 11 the City Council here adopted an ordinance providing $25 minimum charge for each run into the rural area, with $10 additional for each hour or part of an hour the equipment is out on the call.

However, no contract has been entered into with township officials regarding the runs.

REPUBLICANS CRITICIZE BIG THREE AGREEMENTS REACHED AT MEETING

Democrats led by Chairman Connally (D-Tex.) of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee generally voiced approval of the settlements either reached or proposed for Europe's problems.

But there were some, like Senator Wheeler (D-Mont.) who wondered why no mention was made of many continental sore spots.

Wheeler was sorry, he said, that nothing was said about Yugoslavia, adding:

"It is my understanding that in Yugoslavia they have no freedom of speech, no freedom of press and that the goods we are sending are used by Marshal Tito and his cohorts and not given to Serbs."

Others wondered why there was no news of possible Russian entry into the war against Japan, why the disposition of German prisoners in Allied hands was not set out, why Greece was mentioned and whether Russian troops would be withdrawn from Poland.

Observing the agreements seemed to formalize a Russian sphere of influence in Poland, Bulgaria, Finland, Hungary, Romania and Eastern Austria, Taft said the Big Three understandings "in effect recognize that the Russians can do as they please with the puppet Polish government."

It appears to him, Taft said, that Premier Stalin "gets everything he wishes to obtain and has not definitely surrendered any position he has taken in the past."

"The transfer to Poland of nearly a fourth of Germany certainly sows the seed of future war," Taft asserted. "The transfer of millions of Germans to an already crowded area is at best a dangerous experiment."

President Truman, the Ohio senator said, had "assumed to speak for the United States in settling many of the most controversial boundaries and the terms to be imposed upon Germany without any consultation with the Senate or the people of the United States."

Taft added there seemed little need for a peace conference since "apparently all other questions are to be settled in secret by the council of foreign ministers," scheduled to meet in London by September. This council will draft proposed peace treaties for Italy, Romania, Bulgaria, Hungary and Finland.

Taft described as "vague" the Big Three statement that their governments had no doubt that the Allied press would enjoy "full freedom to report to the world upon developments in Romania, Bulgaria, Hungary and Finland." A similar note was sounded about Poland.

Connally said he was particularly pleased with the provisions on the disarmament and demilitarization of Germany, and that "it is also wholesome to root out the distempered Nazi philosophy."

BRITISH REACTION
LONDON, Aug. 3.—(AP)—Veteran diplomatic observers agreed today the Big Three's Potsdam communiqué displayed a toughness with Germany sufficient to assure the world that it would be a long time before that nation again could threaten universal peace.

The London press chorused approval of the Potsdam decisions. Virtually the only complaints—either from newspapers or diplomatic observers—were aimed at what President Truman, Prime Minister Attlee and Premier Stalin did not say, rather than at what was announced.

It seemed agreed here in diplomatic circles the mistakes of Versailles had been avoided and that closer cooperation of the big powers was assured in the reconstruction of Europe.

The Times called the Potsdam plan a "constructive program" which is "just though severe," and said it "holds a promise of an orderly transition for Europe." Pointing out there were some "notable omissions" in the plan, including the withdrawal of Allied forces in Iran, the feeding of Europe and French claims in the Ruhr and Rhineland, the newspaper said "continued collaboration and understanding among all three" nations would be necessary to complete the solution of all problems.

From Berlin Associated Press Correspondent Louis Lochner wrote the conditions imposed by the Potsdam communiqué upon Germany made the Versailles treaty look like child's play. He pointed out that territorially Germany loses not only all she gained by the bullying diplomacy of Adolf Hitler, but also must write off some of the most valuable regions of Germany proper, such as Silesia, East Prussia and large slices of Pomerania.

An authoritative source in London closely connected with the Polish government at Warsaw, said the Polish government probably was satisfied with the Potsdam decisions, but added there had been "some expectation regarding Stettin, so we didn't get all we asked." Polish sources said they still hoped for some concessions regarding Stettin—possibly a declaration that Stettin is a free city with commercial passage allowed Poland and Czechoslovakia.

GERMANY IS CUT UP AND INDUSTRIAL PLAN RESTRICTED BY BIG 3

undertake these.

2. German Control Policies—Germany is to be administered by the Anglo-American-Soviet-French Control Council in Berlin until its people are judged ready to rule themselves peacefully. It is to be deprived of all its war-making industries, and allowed only those industries necessary to maintain an average European standard of living for its people. It is to be denied airplanes and merchant ships and to be made so far as possible self-sustaining with agriculture and peaceful manufactures.

The Germans will be permitted political and religious freedom and free speech. Control of their local affairs will be put into their own hands, and the political structure of a new German nation will be built on these local beginnings.

3. Reparations—All the industries which the Germans might use to build a new war machine and those which they do not need to sustain life will be taken away by the Allies as reparations. Russia will draw her reparations from the eastern zone of Germany which she occupies, and out of these will give reparations to Poland.

The United States, Britain and France, occupying the western zones, will be responsible for furnishing reparations for themselves and all other Allied claimants.

Furthermore 25 percent of what they seize will be turned over to Russia. In return, Russia will pay food, coal, oil and other natural products to the western Allies equivalent in value to three-fifths of the reparations she gets from them.

Details of all reparations are to be worked out by the Allied Reparations Commissions meeting in Moscow. The Big Three agreed, however, that they should "leave enough resources to enable the German people to subsist without external assistance."

4. Poland—Truman, Attlee and Stalin reaffirmed their support of the new provisional government at Warsaw and officially took cognizance of its promise to hold "free and unfettered" elections as soon as possible. They said any final fixing of Poland's boundaries with Germany would have to await the "peace settlements" but subject to that they agreed on a tentative border.

This gives Poland virtually all the German provinces of Pomerania and Silesia and a big chunk of Brandenburg. Poland also gets the southern two-thirds of East Prussia, the northern third, with the city of Königsberg going to Russia.

The reshaping of the Reich's boundaries means that millions of German people must be moved westward into what remains of Germany proper. The claims of western nations, notably the Netherlands, for German territories in the west have yet to be acted upon.

5. War Criminals—The Big Three reaffirmed their intention to bring German war criminals to "swift and sure justice" and promised the first list of defendants would be published before September 1.

6. Southeastern Europe—Allied controls for ex-Axis satellites, Romania, Bulgaria and Hungary, which are dominated by Russia, are to be revised from, the wartime basis on which they originally were set up.

7. A British Foreign Office commentator said today the great German shipbuilding center of Stettin would come under Polish administration in the extension of Poland's western frontiers by the Potsdam Conference.

The communiqué issued by the Big Three said the western boundary line for Poland would run immediately west of Svinemuende from the Baltic Sea, thence along the Oder River to the confluence of the western Niesse River. This would put Stettin, on the west side of the Oder, in Germany.

The commentator explained, however, that it had been decided that the Poles would administer the city, which they call by the Polish name of Szczecin.

Russia gets the long-claimed port of Königsberg and its environs. None of the territorial arrangements was made definite, however. President Truman, Prime Minister Attlee and Generalissimo Stalin merely agreed to support them, or something like them, at the "forthcoming peace settlement."

The United States and Britain appear today to have given tacit recognition to Russia's absorption of three Baltic states—Latvia, Estonia and Lithuania.

While the Potsdam communiqué made no direct mention of these three between-the-wars states, the Polish boundary agreement seems to take for granted their inclusion as Soviet Socialist republics.

JAPAN UNDER BLOCKADE AS INCREASE IN WAR IN CHINA INDICATED

600 Japanese and captured 650 in the last two weeks.

Air Attack Continues

Major blows of the war were still being struck from the air.

As 100 Mustang fighters struck the Tokyo area again today Japanese domestic broadcasts said that the "beastly" air offensive would be "carried out fiercely" with the objective of "wiping out the Japanese people."

Whatever the purpose, new reports on Allied air strikes added 91 Japanese vessels to this week's toll, in addition to extensive land damage. Other air forces hitting Borneo from South China to Malaya accounted for 28 more sunk or damaged. These included 15 troop-laden junks.

A recapitulation of last Monday's carrier raid reaching from Tokyo Bay across Japan's main island was responsible for the largest increase. This "final" recapture added 48 ships and small craft, including four small warships, to the day's toll. The revised carrier plane bag for the day is 278 aircraft and 116 vessels—24 sunk and 92 damaged.

Okinawa bombers and fighters sank or damaged 27 Tuesday and Wednesday around Kyushu, southernmost island of Japan. Near misses were scored on three carriers at the Sasebo naval base. Pilots were sure at least one was damaged. Another strike left the shipbuilding center of Nagasaki exploding and ablaze.

Two Jima's Mustang fighters destroyed 14 small craft in the Kobe-Osaka area southwest of Tokyo yesterday. The Osaka radio said the rocket and strafing attack broke down rail transportation.

Bombing destroyers got two more ships.

Extensive land damage was done in all these strikes in addition to major havoc inflicted by Superforts. Guam headquarters announced the B-29s have flown 27,-

000 sorties in 236 missions over Japan since last Thanksgiving Day. A total of 149 Superforts and about 1,500 crewmen were lost to enemy action. One Superfort was lost and six damaged in yesterday's record 820 plane raid centered on four forewarned cities.

THE WAR TODAY

—by DEWITT MACKENZIE—

The number one point of significance in connection with the historic Big Three communique of Potsdam, as I see it, lies in the fact that the statement could be made at all.

This is to say, the outstanding feature is that the three statesmen were able to reach an accord in what must have been by far the most delicate and difficult conference of the American-British-Russian partnership. The demands of war had oiled the wheels of previous parleys, but this meeting dealt with urgent post-war problems which would produce a divergence of views on some vital questions. And still we have unity. Therefore, as the most important paragraph of the lengthy communique, I give you this:

"President Truman, Generalissimo Stalin and Prime Minister Attlee leave this conference, which has strengthened the ties between the three governments and extended the scope of their collaboration and understanding, with renewed confidence that their governments and peoples, together with the other United Nations, will ensure the creation of a just and enduring peace."

Now, of course, one swallow doesn't make a summer, and one least doesn't necessarily guarantee a continuance of accord. Still, it's great news that the Big Three have negotiated a dangerous course so well.

Naturally it's a keen disappointment that out of 6,000 words devoted to the communique, the conferees couldn't find a half dozen to tell us what the Sphinx of Moscow has in his mind regarding Japan. However, it really would have been surprising if a statement had been made in this matter. If Russia isn't going to war against Nippon, it wouldn't be wise to tell Tokyo that now. And if the Soviet is going to join the conflict, it couldn't be smart to advertise it in advance. Anyway, we have the right to believe that things will work out well.

The communique indicates that the Big Three are getting ahead with the job of dealing with Germany, both as regards penalties and rehabilitation. That's highly important, for the Reich is the center of the European turmoil, and a return of tranquility to the continent is dependent in great degree upon the progress made in readjusting Germany's affairs.

Another striking item is the temporary territorial award to Poland. Pending a final adjustment, the Poles are given the rich German territory east of the Oder River line and a large section of East Prussia.

If this is confirmed it will mean that Poland will become one of the great European powers. It can reach the skies, what with its agricultural and industrial possibilities and great Baltic ports through which it can pour its products to the world at large.

The creation of a Big Five Council of Foreign Ministers—America, Russia, Britain, France and China—to draw up the peace treaties of Europe is another gesture of unity. It is notable that these five countries are the permanent members of the council of the United Nations peace organization formed in San Francisco and the foreign ministers will report to that organization. We have here another step towards world peace.

The five Axis nations which fought beside Hitler—Italy, Bulgaria, Finland, Hungary and Rumania—are to be given a chance to become honest members of the United Nations, after the peace treaties have been agreed upon and suitable governments have established. The Italian treaty will come first.

So we see that the Allies are exacting just punishment but not laking revenge. That should be of interest to Japan.

NINETEEN BOYS REGISTER HERE THE PAST MONTH

Seven Discharged Men Are Also Registered by Draft Board

Nineteen Fayette County boys who attained their 18th birthday during the month of July, registered at the Selective Service Board here, together with seven men who had been discharged from service who had not registered before entering service.

Some of the 18-year-olds have already volunteered for duty and entered the service, and those who have not, will receive their questionnaires soon, fill these out and be called into service later.

Following is the list of the boys registered in July who reached their 18th birthday:

Charles Raymond Walters, 236 Hickory Street.
Harlan Earl Johnson, Route 1.
Willie Lee Reffitt, Route 3, Greenfield.
Robert Thornton Binegar, 214 Cherry Street.
Gene Edwin Bowslier, Route 1, Mt. Sterling.
George Bernard Buck, Route 3.
Robert Lee Henkle, 310 South North Street.
Clifford Albert Leach, Route 5.
Richard Maurice Thompson, W. Court Street.
Thomas Wesley Long, 819 Sycamore Street.
Archie Edward Daugherty, Route 1.
Roger Lee Allen, Route 2, New Holland.

Melvin McCager Hall, 623 Van Deman Avenue.
Willard Wiscup, 405 E. Elm Street.
Albert Owen Hawkins, 725 Maple Street.
Richard Eugene Shoults, 903 Lakeview Avenue.
Earl Dean Stritenberger, 1226 E. Paint Street.
Joseph Marlin Aills, Route 3, and

Willis Cartwright, Jr., Route 4. Following are men who have been discharged from service, who had not registered before going into service:
Robert Burdett Andrews, 426 Lewis Street.
John William Bush, 525 Lewis Street.
Charles Elden Sanderson, 621 Peabody Avenue.
Harold Eugene Dearth, Route 2.

CONTRVERSIAL TOPICS DISCUSSED BY FB GROUP

Two highly controversial subjects were taken up for discussion by members of Farm Bureau Council No. 3 of Upper Paint Township, when the group held its regular meeting at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Gorman. Divergent views on the questions "Is Our Educational System Adequate?" and "Are We In Favor of Peacetime Conscription?" were expressed during the discussion under the leadership of Ralph Denen. The conclusions, if any, that were reached were not disclosed.

The women are to lead the discussion at the next meeting which will be held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Evan Thomas. The subject is to be "Home Canning."

Washington C.H. Girl Is Full-Fledged Flier

Two years have passed since Miss Jean Barger, daughter of Mrs. W. M. Barger, 1040 South North Street, first began private flying lessons at the Sullivan Avenue airport in Columbus but today she holds a private pilot license and her own Piper J-3 plane which is kept in a hangar at the Springfield Airport, Inc. Her frequent visits there are highlighted by the thrill of taking her own plane up into the blue.

Taken up at first as a hobby in the summer of 1943, Miss Barger continued her instruction after primary training at Columbus by going on to Springfield where she took advanced training. Much of her present day skill in piloting she accredits to her primary instructor, Emerson J. Bennett, and to the Springfield pilot, Earl A. Ashelford, an army cadet instructor.

Booster of New Castle, Indiana. The public is cordially invited to attend the services.

Presidential Terms

The "indicated" intent of the House Judiciary Committee to take up the whole question of presidential tenure—meaning the proposal to limit a president to two terms—hints of the possibility that this controversial question may be brought to a showdown at last.

It does not guarantee a showdown. Rep. Hutton W. Summers of Texas, committee chairman, merely has "indicated" the question "probably" will be discussed by his group after the summer congressional recess. So the outcome of renewed discussions of a subject which has been debated since George Washington declined a third term is highly problematical.

Opposition to the proposal probably never has been more outspoken than now. Before Franklin D. Roosevelt became president, many observers regarded such legislation as unnecessary. The opinion was widespread that precedent was sufficient to preserve the two-term tradition. Consequently, interest declined to be passive when legislation was suggested to place a legal limit on presidential tenure. Many people doubtless thought that the precedent couldn't be broken.

But it has been broken. It need not be surprising if future White House occupants strive for as many terms as they can win. Some, if not all, are likely to hang on to their jobs as long as they can.

Whether it is good or bad that a President might serve more than two terms admittedly is a matter of personal opinion. The argument that the American people should be the best judges of how long a president should continue in office has appealing features. If people think the national interest would be better served by retention of the chief executive, what could be undemocratic about that?

Perhaps nothing. On the other hand, there can be no escaping the fact that any party in power has opportunity to build up a powerful political machine. In theory, the longer in office, the more powerful becomes the resulting machine. Conceivably, one of such power could be built as to make a mockery of democratic processes. Such things have happened in other nations of very recent memory. It would be absurd to deny the possibility that they might happen in the United States.

Whether the possibility is sufficiently strong to call for the enactment of protective legislation is another of those matters of personal opinion. But, regardless of present opinions, it is difficult to see how discussion of the question can do any harm. The limitation of the presidential tenure is one worthy of study and debate both in congress and among the American people, even though changes in the present system may be deemed inadvisable.

Railroading

Somehow these present transportation troubles bring to mind a popular song of a bygone era, whose refrain ran like this:

"I been workin' on the railroad,
All the livelong day,
I been workin' on the railroad,
Just to pass the time away."

It was a great song, and a mournful one, around which a magazine writer once wrote a great story. But that is not the point of the present comment. The fact is that, right now, there is a tremendous rail

Hints on Etiquette

To be careless of your dress when you are entertaining guests is an insult to them. It gives them the feeling that you consider that "any old thing is good enough for you."

Today's Horoscope

If you are marking a birthday today, you are an outspoken person, fair in your judgments, reticent and self-reliant. You work quietly, modestly and well. You have poise and tact. You are sincere and steadfast in your affections. Today be receptive to the strengthening forces that emanate from the prevailing rays. You should find glittering opportunities to get what you want if you concentrate your inherent powers on the search. Go ahead!

jam in this country, grown so bad that the United States Senate has taken a hand in the situation and is supporting a drive to recruit 75,000 more railroad workers.

This is a time when there are never hands enough to do the present job and keep things moving, with the whole badly strained economic system, on even keel. But our nation, with its knack of grinding along and doing the seemingly impossible, can probably swing it.

In doing so, let the proper amount of honor and appreciation go to the railroad men concerned. Right now, Transportation Director J. Monroe Johnson says, "one good railroad man working on a railroad is worth 100 railroad men in the army." That's worth thinking about.

Never Say Die

It is surprising how often nowadays people regarded as dead turn out to be alive, after all. In spite of appearances there may be a spark of life remaining which, with wise and patient handling, may be restored to normal flame.

An interesting case came to light the other day in Cleveland when a young man, 20 years old, paid a belated call on a police man to thank him for such a service. He had been a baby apparently "born dead," and was pronounced so by the physician. The father, however, was not convinced, and insisted on calling the police to see what they could do. So in came a sturdy sergeant named Patrick McCarthy, with a rescue squad and a resuscitator, and they set to work. Nothing happened for half an hour, and then that baby started kicking, and soon everything was all right.

Needless to say, it was a grand reunion when the officiating policemen met the baby he had saved so long ago. There may be encouragement in that story to save the life of many another person, when it looks impossible.

That crash at the top of the Empire State Building in New York made Americans realize a little what it would be like if an invasion fleet came over.

They say old men are pessimistic, but Henry Ford at 82 prophesies unprecedented prosperity ahead.

Care of Chronic Invalids

By HERMAN N. BUNDESEN, M. D.

THE problem of caring for patients who are chronically ill, that is, who are suffering from a prolonged illness, is directly associated with the problem of caring for older people, because so-called chronic invalidism in eight out of ten persons occurs in people after the age of thirty-five. It occurs in only one out of every twenty before the age of fourteen.

It has been noted that we are rapidly becoming a nation of elders. That is, there are far more older people in the population than there were in former years. In 1900 about 17 per cent of the total population of the United States were forty-five years old or more, while in 1940, 26 1/2 per cent, exceeded forty-five years of age.

Adjustment to Age

According to Doctor Herman L. Kretschmer, President of the American Medical Association, a physician has an important part in adjusting the aging people to their changing abilities. He is called on to treat larger numbers of patients who are suffering from disorders of the advanced years of life.

The first consideration in regard to the problem of these chronically ill persons is the establishment of methods for the prevention of chronic ailments. This should begin early in life with proper personal hygiene, right living and suitable diet. Too much emphasis cannot be placed on the importance of a regular physical examination by the doctor at least once a year.

"BE STRONG"

Be strong!
We are not here to play, to dream, to drift.
We have hard work to do, and loads to lift.
Shun not the struggle; face it.
'Tis God's gift.

Be strong!
Say not the days are evil—who's to blame?
And fold the hands and acquiesce—O shame!
Stand up, speak out, and bravely, in God's name.

Be strong!
It matters not how deep entrenched the wrong,
How hard the battle goes, the day how long,
Faint not, fight on! Tomorrow comes the song.

"TWO PRAYERS"

A true poet is one who can make such music as this out of a simple personal experience and make us feel it is our own.

Last night my little boy confessed to me
Some childish wrong;
And kneeling at my knee
He prayed with tears—
'Dear God, make me a man
Like daddy—wise and strong;
I know you can.'

Then while he slept
I knelt beside his bed,
Confessed my sins,
And prayed with low-bowed head.
'O God, make me a child
Like my child here—
Pure, guileless,
Trusting Thee with faith sincere.'

SYNOPSIS

Eleonore Lawrence, Air Raid Defense worker in Sweetsburg—a town humming with war industry and rumors of saboteurs—has a secret assignment from the Counter Intelligence Corps to collect and forward coded messages left near the Lawrence home in discarded cigarette packets. The Lawrence household consists of "Grandma" Lawrence; Sukey, Eleonore's small sister; and Mammie, maid of all work. Eleonore's brothers, Arthur and Eben, are in the Navy and Coast Guard respectively. Eleonore was the recipient of several spy expose books, and secretly hoped the anonymous sender might be William Steuben, who had visited her months ago, but from whom she had heard nothing since. The adjoining Wolfe estate has been leased by B. Stead Jones of New York, and Eleonore noticed an attractive blonde on the grounds as she and Roof, her police dog, returned from a message search. At home she found Jones visiting Grandma. He explained that his wife is an invalid and he wants to "hunt Fifth Columnists". Jones warned Eleonore against walking along the mountain road "because of the rough crowds" nearby. A week later, Roof disappeared. . . .

Unknown to Eleonore, Bill Steuben is a C. I. C. agent. After posing as a Nazi sympathizer in New York, he was sent to the sabotage school being conducted at the Jones mansion by Carlotta. Baalsh Jones, Nazi agent, had disclosed that Carlotta, "a very demon of a woman," was seeking a more secluded locale for her "Tower of Learning" and Bill suggested the Wolfe estate, where he is now "Number 7". Bill heard a muffled shot outside and, later, "Doc," the spy school's handyman, told him his exercise that night would be to bury a dog. "Doc" gives Bill a hood-like mask before escorting him to a room where he and several other masked men listen to the magnetic Carlotta lecture on sabotage. After the others had been dismissed, the Nazi queen quizzes Bill who is impressed by her hypnotic allure. That night Bill muttered maledictions on "Doc" and all other Nazis as he interred Roof's body. . . .

At the Lawrences, Arthur, home on leave, anxiously awaits the arrival of his sweetheart, Mercedes Lake, who is coming for the weekend.

CHAPTER TWELVE

Trim in his new naval lieutenant's uniform, Arthur and Grandma set out after lunch. An hour later they came back with the merry Mercedes. Gran's hat was pushed crooked; Art with an arm around each, dragged and danced them toward the steps.

"When's the wedding to be?" Eleonore cried.

"It's this way: I can't marry Gran, so Mercedes says she'll take pity on me!" responded Art.

"Elmer," cried Mercedes, "d'you think he means it?"

"Woman, you just can't jilt me now!" boomed Art, putting his face close to hers, and they hugged each other tightly.

Sukey, sitting on a fence railing, saw Eben plodding along the road with his bag about six o'clock. She screamed and ran toward him. "They're engaged—engaged!" she panted. "Maybe they'll get married 'fore Art sails. Mercedes says I can take care of all her babies!"

Eben dropped his bag and lifted her high. "Whew, that's news!" He was a tall boy, lean and vigorous, with the Lawrence merriment in his expression.

"Did you get a hitch?"

"All the way, except this last stretch. . . . What are we having for dinner?"

"Roast chicken and strawberry pie."

"Oh, boy!" beamed Eben.

At the table Sukey continued her role of local information bureau. "Some rich people moved into the Wolfe house, but they have no children so there's no one for me to play with."

"New neighbors, eh? Who are they?"

"The B. Stead Jones," answered Gran. "He called on me and I found him quite gentlemanly."

Art, sitting beside Mercedes, came out of his dreamlike absorption long enough to ask, "What does he do?"

"I don't know exactly," replied Eleonore, "business in New York, comes here weekends. He told me that he was interested in squashing the Fifth Column."

"Elmer's never called on Mrs. Jones," fretted Gran. "It's not neighborly!"

"He said that his wife wasn't well—" began Eleonore, but Eben interrupted with, "That's some one was squashing the Fifth Column! Wait till I tell you what happened to me this afternoon! . . . I was waiting on the parkway—had a lift from New York City that far—just where Route 82 turns east. A fellow driving a coupe picked me up. He asked me a lot of questions about my company and army life."

"Eben," cried Gran, "have another drink, do!"

"Later. . . . Then the guy moaned about the defense workers getting fifteen and twenty dollars a day while a soldier sweated for his measly pay. Sure, I agreed to that. Any fellow would. I have mighty little folding money. But my agreeing gave him an opening. He said I wouldn't get a job when the thing was over. He had been in the last one, and he knew. He befoed about war contracts, and why did we have to get into it anyway, just 'fighting to save the British Empire!'"

"That old bunk!" commented Art. "No one wanted war, and it was the little guys like me who carried the hod. We got ourselves blinded, maimed, killed in the name of patriotism—another name for a lot of eye-wash spread out at times like this by big shots and profiteers. There was only one kind of patriotism that could save America. We could lay down our arms and refuse to fight."

"Didn't you say anything?"

"I was ready to, but I kept saying, 'oh yeah' seeing how far he'd go. But this time I said, 'Mister, I've ridden far enough. Let me out at this gas station.' But I darned if he didn't press some pamphlets into my hand before driving on, a lot of Nazi propaganda called 'True Americanism.'"

"Unsigned, I bet," said Arthur. "Correct. I took his license number. Going to turn it in."

"That's one of their dodges—picking up soldiers waiting for a hitch, getting slubby with them, and then the shot of poison! Look out for them in bars too, kid," warned Art.

"We've been warned of that." Eben ate busily, then leaned back. "That was a proud dinner, Mrs. Lawrence! Good thing the dance is tomorrow night; I've eaten too much. El, you're going with me, d'you hear? Our lieutenant will be with Mercedes in a corner, you know."

Eleonore shook her head. "Not going. Take one of your little playmates."

He made a terrifying face and thundered, "Stay home, will you? Not while I'm a boss in this man's army! No one can jitterbug like you, and all my little playmates will be there anyhow."

"Charmed, my hero!"

"That's better." Eben grinned impudently. "You'll go."

Sukey was allowed to stay up until Eben went to bed. Eleonore touched a match to the fireplace before saying goodnight to Art and Mercedes who were sitting on the davenport.

Eleonore planned to rise early and make her search for a report from the C. I. C. agent before breakfast, but everyone seemed to get up at the same time. They had a dawning breakfast and when she finally set out, Art called, "Wade-a-minute, wa-a-de! Mercy and I want a stroll too. Why so exclusive?"

"Well," hesitated Eleonore, "if you're ready."

"You let her go alone," protested Grandma.

"Alone?" Art's brows lifted. "Is it a trust?"

"Nonsense!" Gran's expression became foxy. "She's just going as far as the next place for exercise. Why don't you take Mercedes for a nice walk? Show her something—the beaver pond, and the Indian trail over the mountain."

"An idea," he admitted. "Wonderful view up there. Do you mind climbing?"

Mercedes' dotting glance said, "Anywhere with you."

They did not start at once; for when Eleonore came back from a fruitless search, she saw them crossing the meadow with Sukey, then drifting in between the trees that led to the beaver pond on the Jones place.

Eben had taken the car to look at the wire-haired terriers. She busied herself making cinnamon rolls. Then her sister, Doris, telephoned from Albany and said that little Janie was down with the measles, so she and her husband would not be able to come for Sunday as they had planned. It just made her miss Art's last leave, wailed Doris. "What? What? Art and Mercedes engaged? Super-duper and aurora borealis! Well, if Doris could get Theron's sister to stay with Janie tomorrow, she would take the eleven o'clock train. She wasn't going to miss the last family good time!"

CONTRACT REVISION IS ASKED BY LAUREN

No Longer a Child, She Says As Mrs. Humphrey Bogart

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 3.—(AP)—Lauren Bacall says the day she married Humphrey Bogart she ceased to be a child, at least in the eyes of the law.

The 20-year-old actress petitioned superior court to revise a movie contract containing provisions for her protection as a minor. She argued that under California law when a girl marries, if she is over 18, she legally becomes an adult.

She asks a refund of 10 percent held from her salary for savings. Her petition also asks dissolution of a trust fund, created for her mother, under which another 10 percent of her earnings were impounded.

Miss Bacall and Bogart were married May 21.

Washington at a Glance

By JACK STINETT

By JACKSON S. ELLIOTT

(Jack Stinnett Is On Vacation)

WASHINGTON — Up in the Aleutian Islands land winds called "williwaws" blow down trees, the rains wash them away, and the goats eat most of what's left.

So the Army is trying to plant a forest where none has grown for millions of years.

The islands are nearly barren, and the violent winds have stripped them of even the hardy Sitka spruce. The rainfall is frequently heavy and the roots have found only soggy footing. Periodic studies, along with photographs, have shown that goats feed on the young plants. The temperature, too, may be below the minimum average for successful growth of trees.

But the Geographic Society of New York, which has just disclosed the army project, notes that the growing season—130 to 190 days—is far longer than that in many of the heavily forested regions of Alaska. In areas where the temperature is only slightly higher than on the Aleutians, there are dense forest stands.

The treeless Aleutians may receive even more sunshine than some forested regions in southeastern Alaska. As to the winds, some parts of north Kodiak Island, where there are forests, are far windier.

In 1805 the Russians transplanted trees from Sitka to Unalaska and repeated the job at intervals. Some trees are still there, but there has been no spread. Other random plantings were made by the United States, most of them from 1920 to 1940. Success has been slight.

But when the U. S. Army went into the Aleutians, and bulldozers began to scrape camps into the land, trees were needed to prevent erosion. It was also felt that trees would relieve the monotonous barren view on all sides.

The late Lt. Gen. Simon Bolivar Buckner Jr. began a program by importing thousands of trees from Alaska. He even brought many from mainland camps, including white, black and Sitka spruce, mountain hemlock, northern black cottonwood, balsam, poplar, aspen, alder and willow.

The question of whether the forests will develop is open, say the botanists. They describe in the same way the question of why trees have not survived in the past. But the Army's tree-planting program, if it does succeed, will bring the first forests to the Aleutians in millions of years.

Trio of Hostesses Are Responsible for One of Season's Loveliest Parties

Mrs. Robert Terhune, Mrs. Edgar Snyder and Mrs. L. C. Coffman Entertain 18 Tables of Guests at Country Club for a Dinner-Bridge

Mrs. Robert Terhune, Mrs. Edgar Snyder and Mrs. L. C. Coffman were a trio of gracious hostesses as they received their sixty-four guests whom they had assembled at the Country Club on Thursday evening for a dinner-bridge affair, which proved to be one of the highlights of the current social season. Numerous bowls, baskets and vases of mixed cut and garden flowers were seen at various points of vantage in the spacious and handsomely appointed club lounge where was assembled a great bevy of smartly-dressed women whose colorful summer frocks added a pretty note to the well-planned affair.

Mrs. Terhune wore an attractive frock of gold and black print top with black skirt for the affair while Mrs. Snyder chose a smart pouf blue tailored frock to receive in. Mrs. Coffman's choice was an all-white ensemble.

Placard tallies embossed with a floral motif marked the cover of each guest who found their places at many small tables placed informally about the club lounge when dinner was served in two courses. Watergardens in crystal vases were composed of mixed cut flowers, thus carrying out a rainbow color scheme which was most appropriate.

Congeniality reigned during the dinner hour which was one of great pleasure for the appreciative guests who were delighted at the many and varied gracious hostesses so cordially extended them during the affair by the trio of capable hostesses, Mrs. Terhune, Mrs. Snyder and Mrs. Coffman.

Included with the guests from this city was an out-of-town guest, Miss Mae Gaut, of New York City, who is here this summer with her sister, Miss Dorothea Gaut.

After the tempting meal of fried chicken and other accessory dishes was served in courses, informal chatting was enjoyed for a period before the bridge sessions began under the expert direction of the hostesses.

WTH Class Met Thursday
Mrs. Ralph Michel was hostess to members of the WTH Class of McNair Church on Thursday evening, when a unusually large number of members was present. President, Mrs. John Schiller, led the devotionals and the business meeting.

Plans were laid to serve dinner for the Harmony Primitive Baptist Church which will hold its annual convention at McNair Church August 15 to the seven-teenth.

During the social hour that followed, Mrs. Loren Reif and Mrs. Joe Campbell conducted two contests, with favors being presented Mrs. Schiller and Mrs. Homer Scott.

Light refreshments were served the group who lingered for visiting until late in the evening.

Blue and Gold Featured at Rehearsal Dinner

Blue and gold were the predominating colors used to decorate the serving table when the rehearsal dinner for the bridal party who will take part in the marriage of Miss Ann Patton and Ensign Harold L. Geiger, U. S. Naval Air Corps, on Friday evening, was entertained by the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Patton.

The residence of Mrs. Charles Gage was the scene of the dinner on Thursday evening. The large table was decorated with a watergarden of blue and gold flowers, while appropriate placecards were also used to mark each guest's cover. Gold tapers in crystal candelabras flanked the watergarden, further carrying out the U. S. Navy color scheme.

Immediately following the dinner the party adjourned to the First Presbyterian Church where a lengthy rehearsal was held.

Hamburg Fry Fetes Guest from Aurora, Ill.

Several members of the city's younger set gathered at the Fairgrounds roadside park on Thursday evening when Miss Jane Anderson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Anderson, North Fayette Street, entertained them with a hamburger fry.

Each young girl brought a delicious covered dish to the supper party which was most enjoyable for the group. Miss Anderson had as her honoree her houseguest, Miss Bette DeHeart, who is here from Aurora, Ill. She formerly resided in this city.

At the conclusion of the bountiful meal, they adjourned for a theater party.

Those present were Misses Mary Lou Follis, Virginia Mark, Ruth Adams, Ruth Ann Perrill, Marilyn Cole, Dixie Lou Graves, Marilyn Ashley, Kate Howard, the honoree guest, Miss DeHeart and Miss Anderson.

Turner-Dick Vows Exchanged On July 22

Miss Evelyn Turner, granddaughter of Mrs. Lillian Turner, Jacksonsville, Fla., and the late Captain Harry Turner, Washington C. H., and William N. Dick, ARM 1-c of Westville, N. J., were married Sunday, July 22, in the First Presbyterian Church, in Jacksonville, friends here are learning with interest.

The double ring ceremony was read by the Rev. Walter Hall, assistant pastor of the First Presbyterian Church. White gladioli against a background of palms and ferns decorated the altar and chancel of the church. Lighted tapers in graduated candelabra cast a soft glow.

A program of nuptial music was rendered by the church organist. The bride, given in marriage by Clarence C. Lohman, had as her maid of honor, Miss Myrtle Taylor and her bridesmaid was Miss Lily Abdullah. Jack L. Longmire acted as best man for the bridegroom.

Miss Turner chose a street length gown of chartreuse crepe fashioned with a V-neckline, fitted waist and gathered skirt. She wore a small white feather hat with a white veil caught in a bow at the back. Her corsage was of red roses.

The maid of honor wore a gown of rose jersey, with insects of matching lace. Her hat was a rose straw sailor, and her corsage was of white gardenias.

The bridesmaid chose a gown of pink and black crepe, with which she wore a small white straw hat, and a corsage of white gardenias.

Mrs. Turner, grandmother of the bride was gowned in yellow crepe with brown accessories. Her corsage was of red roses.

Immediately following the ceremony, the couple left for a short trip on the east coast.

Woldeane Engle July 30 Bride Of Pfc. Classon

Garbed in a blue gadardine fall suit which she accentuated with brown accessories was Miss Woldeane Engle, of 811 Euclaire Avenue, Columbus, as she exchanged marriage vows with Pfc. Theodore Classon, son of Mr. and Mrs. N. A. Classon, of Springfield, Mass. on Monday, July thirtieth, in this city.

Officiating during the double ring ceremony was Rev. George B. Parkin, pastor of Grace Methodist Church, here, in the parsonage as the hands of the clock neared two. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Engle, this city.

The bride's only attendant was Miss Ruth Engle, her sister, who wore a smart rose wool suit with brown accessories.

The new Mrs. Classon, a graduate of Washington C. H. High School in 1939, later attended Ohio State University and Office Training School, in Columbus. At present she is employed as secretary to the manager of the Felber Biscuit Company, at Columbus.

Pfc. Classon has been stationed for the past seven months with the Air Service Command, at Alaska. After a 21 day furlough, he reports at Denver, Colorado, for redeployment.

Following the ceremony, Mr. and Mrs. Engle and daughter, Ruth, accompanied the bride and bridegroom to Columbus for dinner at the Seneca Hotel. On Tuesday, the newly weds left for Springfield, Mass., for a visit with relatives there.

This announcement is of great interest to a wide circle of friends here.

Eight Guests Entertained

Mrs. Charles Reinke extended the hospitality of her home Wednesday evening when she assembled two tables of guests for a dinner bridge.

Covers were laid for eight at the dining room table for the serving of a delicious dinner. Centering the table was a beautiful watergarden* of pansies.

Following the dinner hour an evening of bridge was greatly enjoyed and when scores were tallied attractively wrapped prizes were awarded to Mrs. S. S. Boren, Mrs. Sam Parrett and Mrs. James A. Doneghy of St. Louis, Missouri.

Six Hostesses For Meeting at Jeffersonville

Miss Louise Fultz, Miss Maude Wood, Mrs. Flora Robbins, Mrs. Belle Thompson, Mrs. Nora Fultz and Mrs. Iva Lou Bush were hostesses to the W. S. C. S. members who assembled at the Jeffersonville Methodist Church for the regular meeting on Wednesday. Twenty-four members and one guest, Mrs. Bernard Bond, were present for the afternoon session.

President, Mrs. Eva Owens, presided during the meeting when Miss Louise Fultz played a prelude which opened the session. A well-chosen poem and prayer by Mrs. Owens followed this, and then all repeated the Lord's Prayer.

After various reports were heard, a visiting committee for the coming month was appointed. Mrs. Mauna Shockley, Mrs. Nan Grimm, and Mrs. Herbert Stooker comprise this committee.

Mrs. Mina Morris was then introduced as devotional and program leader. She chose for the afternoon's topic "Co-Operation with Latin America." Her material was well chosen and she stressed the importance of this co-operation with other people of other nations to help bring them to the same high standard of living that North America enjoys.

"Onward Christian Soldiers" was sung at the conclusion of the program. Light refreshments were served and all enjoyed the pleasant social hour.

Mrs. Robinson Assembles Club For Luncheon

Mrs. Judith Robinson was hostess to her bridge club when they assembled at her home for luncheon Thursday.

Covers were laid at the dining room table for the serving of a beautifully appointed luncheon. A lovely bowl of summer flowers centered the table.

The usual afternoon of bridge followed the luncheon. Mrs. W. S. Willis and Mrs. Colin Campbell had high scores for the afternoon. Mrs. Robinson was assisted throughout the afternoon by her daughter, Mrs. Victor Lungeborg and guest, Mrs. Donald Weir, of Shreveport, Louisiana.

Sunday League Schedule Features Doubleheader

A double-header at Sabina with Good Hope furnishing the opposition will provide the highlight of next Sunday's Tri-County League battles which also will pit the Eagles against Milledgeville on the Milledgeville lot and Jeffersonville against the Tigers at Greenfield.

The chips are down for every team in the league, Bob Bailey, the loop secretary said as he predicted another trio of capacity crowds around the circuit.

Sabina could come back to within fractional percentage points of the league leading Eagles by taking both ends of the twin bill if the Milledgevilleans cooperate with a victory of their own.

On the other hand, if the Good Hopes can take both ends of the double bill, they could get out of the cellar if the Eagles

Veterans Becoming Factor In Major League Baseball

By JACK HAND

Baseball is going GI in a big way now that the manpower scales are favoring discharges over inductions, with returning servicemen holding the balances of power in both major leagues.

Take yesterday's big league scores, for example. A former soldier or sailor was the decisive factor in each of the six scheduled contests.

Prize showpiece is Al Benton, the ex-star, who has blazed a path to the top of the American League pitchers with an unofficial 0.89 earned run average and a 10-2 win and lost record, including five shutouts. Only Dave Ferriss of Boston among the service-men, overshadowed the Detroit star who might have been able to match the rookie's 17 victories if he hadn't missed six weeks because of an ankle fracture.

Benton blanked the champion St. Louis Browns, 6-0, scattering seven hits to the Ferriss for the whitewash lead of the majors. Jack Kramer, his mound opponent, did a turn in the Seabees but that didn't save him from his fourth straight loss.

Red Ruffing, 41-year-old veteran of the New York Yankees, showed he had lost little of his pre-war cunning in stopping Boston 3-1. It was two wins in a row for the rotund redhead and his first complete game.

Out in Cleveland the Indians and Chicago White Sox held an old fashioned slugfest, captured by the Tribe, 13-7. Pat Seery's grand slam homer in an eight-run third inning was an important factor but a neat job of relief chucking by Pete Center, an ex-GI, saved the day for Cleveland.

Washington twice shaded Philadelphia, each time by a 2-1 score, moving to within 4 1-2 games of the top and here again the veterans were in the foreground. Al Evans, a discharged serviceman, doubled to open a ninth inning spurt in the opener and came home with the winning run on pitcher Mickey Haefner's single.

Steve Gerkin, Philadelphia's luckless and winless pitcher who spent two years in the army, outpitched Marina Pieretti in the nightcap, six hits to seven but lost his 12th straight when the Nats scored twice on two hits in the seventh.

Chicago reversed the score of Wednesday's game by handing Pittsburgh a 1-0 blanking in the only scheduled contest in the National League, and once again a former soldier was the hero. Harry (Peanuts) Lowrey, who rejoined the Bruins this spring, doubled home Don Johnson in the sixth inning to break up a scoreless duel.

-Spying- On Sports

By Hugh Fullerton, Jr.

By HAROLD HARRISON

(Pinch-hitting for Hugh Fullerton, Jr.)

COLUMBUS, O., Aug. 3.—(AP)—The word going 'round the Big Ten is that the battle for the 1945 football championship will be between Illinois, Michigan, Minnesota and Ohio State (listed alphabetically). The hope is that the first three are well stocked with veterans while the Bucks, defending champions, have come up with another crop of freshmen the same perfectly able to take care of themselves in any kind of competition. And among the veterans Ohio State will have all-America Bill Hackett at guard and Paul Sarringhaus, star of the 1942 team, in the backfield.

Ohio State and Michigan each will play the other three top-rated contenders but Illinois and Minnesota do not meet.

Day Dreams

If it weren't for conflicting big time tournaments and military duties, the Ohio Open Golf Tournament next week could be quite an affair for a state meet. Toss Byron Nelson, Denny Shute, Toney Penna and Sgt. E. J. (Dutch) Harrison—all Ohioans—into a tournament and you've got a right fast field. And for good measure there could be Flight Officer Frank Stranahan of Toledo, runner-up in last week's all-America Amateur, and Maurice McCarthy of Cincinnati, the defending state open champion and a former U. U. Walker cupper.

Filly Is Threat To Turf Prestige Claimed by Colts

CHICAGO, Aug. 3.—(AP)—A west coast filly, L. B. Mayer's Busher, and a midwest colt, Warren Wright's Pot O'Luck, will feud for fresh three-year-old laurels tomorrow in the $50,000 Added Arlington Handicap at Washington Park.

Eight older horses also are nominated for the rich stake, but the mile and a quarter argument is expected to be squarely between Pot O'Luck, Kentucky Derby runner-up and winner of the recent Arlington Classic, and Busher, leading lady of the west coast turf season.

A victory for either youngster would sharply challenge a trio of eastern gallopers, Wildfire, Pavo and Gallotette, in the battle for 1945 three-year-old honors.

Pot O'Luck will carry 118 pounds and Busher 113.

Nelson in Lead In Canada Open

TORONTO, Aug. 3.—(AP)—Golf fans were wondering today what other surprises the $10,000 Canadian Open Golf Championship would have in store for them as the second round got under way.

Practically all of the 2,500 on-lookers who crowded the Thornhill course yesterday expected Byron Nelson of Toledo, O., to lead the field after the first round—and he did. But few, if any, expected Vic Ghezzi of Atlantic City, N. J., a sergeant in the Fifth Army in Italy, until seven weeks ago, to share the top berth with Nelson. Each fired two-under par 68's to tie for the lead.

The 34-year-old veteran who played only in fits and starts while stationed in Naples, Rome, Florence and Leghorn successively as the Fifth Army moved up in Italy, duplicated Nelson's par 34 on the first nine and the same score on the back nine.

Baksi Whipped By Joe Walcott

CAMDEN, N. J., Aug. 3.—(AP)—A short, squat slugger named Jersey Joe Walcott, who started his ring career as a sparring partner for Joe Louis back in 1936, is the newest light on the heavyweight horizon.

A comparative unknown in top-flight boxing circles, Jersey Joe won a convincing 10-round verdict over Joe Baksi of Kilpnot, Pa., the nation's number two wartime heavyweight, before 3,500 at Camden's Confection Hall last night.

He won the fight largely by his strategic handling of the heavier, more powerful opponent.

Louis XIV once paid $14,000 for a pair of buttons.

Wilsonians Forfeit to Hoff Team

The Wilson Softball team today had the second defeat of the season marked up against it on the City Twilight League books, but it could hardly be considered much of a reflection on its play ability.

Hoff's Marketmen were awarded Thursday night's regular game when the Wilsonians failed to show up and were credited with a loss by forfeit. The only other defeat suffered by the league leaders was at the hands of the in-and-out American Legion outfit early in the season.

The Wilsonians were booked to meet the 740 AC team, boasting some of the outstanding colored athletes of Columbus, at Wilson Field here Friday (tonight) at 8:30 P. M.

Because of the sizeable guarantee required to bring the capital city boys here, there will be either a small gate admission or the hat will be passed for a collection.

Russ Warner, the head man of the Wilson crew, said he planned to strengthen his pitching staff, but did not say how.

The AC outfit handed the API team a 10 to 3 beating here two weeks ago. One of the biggest crowds of the season filled the bleacher seats. Warner said that if the weather did not interfere, another good turnout was expected for the second visit of the Columbus boys.

With no Junior League game, the customary curtain raiser, Thursday night was a blank in Washington C. H. softball.

Circleville Coach To Go to Wooster

Coach Roy M. Black of Circleville High School, who has been bringing his Tigers to Washington C. H. for football and basketball games and entertaining the Blue Lions there for the last seven years, is moving out of the South Central League to take a position of director of physical education at Wooster.

The frequent storm center of SCO sports said in announcing his resignation that he would continue in the coaching profession as head coach of Wooster's football, basketball and track teams. He said he would receive a substantial increase in salary. Coach Black went to Circleville from Urbana.

Valdo Abbe Easy Winner At Xenia

Valdo Abbe, Kirk and Vallery's smart pacer that almost broke the track record at the Fair races here last week, took the 3-year-old pace at Xenia Thursday in the same kind of three-heat style, but Val Abbe, his trotting stablemate, could do no better than three seconds in the 3-year-old trot. Kirk was at the reins in both races.

It was a full afternoon of racing, with seven events on the program to clean up the postponements from previous days when the card was washed out by rain.

Lord Clive, driven by the veteran West Mallow for the Millrace Farm stable of Dr. O. W. House and G. Damon Baker, took the first two heats from Val Abbe but dropped to third in the last one.

Vella La Vella, that paid such a fancy price in the mutuels, finished one-two in the 2-year-old trot.

GRAIN MARKET NEWS SUMMARY

CHICAGO, Aug. 3.—(AP)—Wheat rallied toward the close today, carrying other grains upward on the strength of broker buying, considered as further removal of hedges against cash sales to Mexico. Houses with eastern export connections also have been on the buying side.

The upward swing was influenced, too, by reports that the Commodity Credit Corporation is ready to purchase cash wheat in the West and southwest daily at the most favorable price.

At the close wheat was 1/2 to 1 1/2 higher than yesterday's close, September $1.66 1/4. Corn was unchanged to 1/4 higher, December $1.18 1/2. Oats were 1/4 to 1/2 higher, September 65-64 1/2. Rye was 1/2 to 2 1/2 higher, September $1.48 1/4. Barley was 1/4 higher to 1/2 lower, September $1.13 1/2.

Calling ALL-CROP HARVESTERS

Harvest More SEED This Year!

Allis-Chalmers All-Crop Harvester Owners! There is an emergency need of SEED for grass and legume crops.

Every All-Crop Harvester owner can be a one-man army in this campaign. Here is the plan:

1. Harvest more high protein seed crops, especially legumes and grasses.
2. Rotate pasturing. Don't pasture too short or too late. Grow an emergency crop of some kind for feed if necessary—but give your hay crop a chance to set seed.
3. Cut hay early, when it's fine-stemmed and high in protein; then harvest the second crop for seed.
4. Have us recondition your All-Crop and attachments under the 24 point Farm-Commando plan, insuring maximum yield of bright, clean seed.

If you are not an All-Crop owner, we may be able to direct you to an owner who does custom work.

FILES OF MEN 45 TO 65 ARE DISPOSED OF

Selective Service Records Of 2,341 Men Torn Up For Waste Paper

Selective Service information about 2,341 Fayette County men who registered for possible military service, has been destroyed by the Selective Board which acted under instructions from Washington D. C.

The questionnaires filled out by the men of 45 to 65 were first torn to pieces and then the upward of 300 pounds of paper was consigned to the salvage campaign in Fayette County, Chairman Howard Fogle said Thursday.

The heavy files of questionnaires were opened, when the orders came to destroy the files, and the papers torn and placed in huge cardboard containers, which were taken up by the salvage collectors.

All occupational questionnaires and other papers about the men of 45 to 65 were included in the directive, and destroyed.

The local board received orders to dispose of the files several weeks ago, and the instructions were to first mutilate the papers, and then dispose of them as waste paper.

As a result the military information about the "granddads" no longer exists, and those who hold registration cards in the group can now retain them as souvenirs of the event — if they care to.

In the nation at large approximately 14,000,000 men in the 45-65 group registered at local draft boards in 1942, when it appeared that some form of labor conscription would be necessary to properly carry out the war program.

Each registrant filled out the occupational questionnaire, one copy of which was retained by the draft board and the other sent to the U. S. Employment office. It was these forms that were ordered destroyed and the order was duly executed here.

Approximately 808,000 Ohioans were included in the registration at the state's 330 local draft boards.

broad picture of victory or defeat for whole armies. It takes in only the hell and grief of the immediate vicinity.

It is difficult for homesick men to see the overall workings of the furlough and discharge point systems.

"Points" and "the waiver." You hear those words spoken time and again, with faint hope, with sarcastic laughter, with cynicism. They haven't forgotten there's a war, they say, but—"well, it's this way," said one: "if the point system's supposed to spread the job and recognize service, I've done my share and it's somebody else's turn now."

You talk to various officers about all this. Some are sympathetic: "every day on this island takes something out of a man, no denying that." Some are impatient: "sure everybody wants to go home—so do I—and let somebody else fight the war."

"Sending these men home depends on two things," one explained. "Shipping space — and availability of replacements. It's

WANTS HOUSING SURVEY MADE IN CITY BY NHA

Chamber of Commerce Takes Step After Survey Is Made By J. M. Riffe

The Washington C. H. Chamber of Commerce Friday requested the National Housing Administration to make a survey of the critical housing situation in this city in order that priorities may be forthcoming at an early date.

James M. Riffe, Jr., executive vice president, who spent some time going into the situation here, and has returned from Columbus where he instituted final steps for securing priorities for the erection of homes in the community.

Riffe, discussing the housing problem and appeal to the NHA, said:

"This is a vital issue not only to the people of Washington C. H., but to those workers in our plants and businesses that are forced to commute great distances in order to reach their places of employment."

"The critical condition must be relieved immediately."

The Chamber of Commerce committee, handling housing is exerting every effort to remedy the conditions at the earliest possible time, Riffe said.

The survey here, for instance, disclosed that about 70 percent of the employees of the API reside outside of the city, and that a large portion of this number would move to Washington C. H. if houses were available.

In some instances people looking for houses in the city have searched for weeks before finding what they wanted.

a tremendous job, sorting out and transporting."

Why the "waiver" on furloughs? Shipping, it was explained. Men with more than 85 points are not considered for home leave because they are so near to discharge under the point system. If they get a furlough and come back to await discharge and then go home for good—three trips. Lately, because the "critical score" might be lowered, men with 70 points or more are not considered.

"That one," a non-com told me, "took the heart out of my battery."

Said a Geecye, "I've been over 43 months, have 90 points. If I sign the waiver and take my leave, I forfeit my chances of being discharged in the States."

Said another: "I'm signing it—but when I get back I'm going to pull every string I can to get a discharge. I consider it signing under duress." He is not alone in that. Some have openly told their officers of their intentions.

In answer to a question by the judge about collaboration, Laval said:

NEW BUILDINGS TO BE STARTED SOON BY CO-OP

240 by 40 Foot Structure Will Be Erected Between Fayette-Main Streets

Within the next few days ground will be broken for the first of three buildings to be erected on the tract of land bounded by Fayette and Main Streets and the Pennsylvania and B. & O. Railroad, purchased sometime ago by the Fayette County Farm Bureau Co-Operative Association.

Work of staking off the building and clearing the site of the old concrete vault that was formerly the strong box of the Southern Ohio Lumber Company office, was started this week, and as soon as a power shovel is available the work of excavating for the foundations walls of the first building will be launched.

The Sever-Williams Company, formerly the Williams Construction Company, has the contract for erecting the first building.

This building will be on the north side of the lot, and extends 240 feet between the two streets. It will be 40 feet wide, built one story, buff-colored tile walls and built-up roof.

It will be used for a farm machinery building, with display rooms and offices for that branch of the company, fronting on Fayette Street.

Later the main office building and warehouses will be built on the Main Street side, and another sizeable structure will also be built toward the south side of the lot.

A feature of the plant as planned will be a large parking area for handling the business.

It is expected the first building will be ready for occupancy by late fall. The other two buildings may not be built until next year.

States were not in the war. Who, in his right mind, would have thought otherwise than that Germany would win the war?"

Laval entered the courtroom flanked by policemen.

The old marshal already was there at his little table.

Guards took strategic points in all parts of the chamber. The hundreds of extra police had cleared corridors of the building before Laval was brought in.

The white-tied former Vicky chief of government had returned to France dramatically only two days before, after being ousted from Spain whence he had fled from a collapsing Germany.

Laval, who appeared to have thinned and aged considerably, was summoned neither as a defense nor as a prosecution witness in the trial of Petain, his erstwhile superior as Vicky chief of state. He was called to testify as a court's witness by the jury and the presiding judges.

Laval's face was lined heavily; he looked very tired. His eyes and those of Petain did not meet as he was led by flanking policemen into the courtroom. Laval was not sworn in. He appeared as a court witness.

His early testimony was concerned with the French-Italian negotiations over Tunisia, strategic French holding along the middle of the African Mediterranean coast.

"Tunisia is to Italy what Alsace Lorraine is to France," Laval said. "It was a sacrifice for the Italian government to renounce any privileges in Tunisia."

The Hoare-Laval Pact to which he referred was a secret agreement aiming to appease Mussolini and prevent his marching into Ethiopia. It would have given Italy sovereignty or control of two-thirds of Ethiopia.

THE OLD HOME TOWN

FAYETTE COUNTY BOYS IN SERVICE

Among the list of Ohio soldiers discharged from the service through the Separation Center, Indiantown Gap Military Reservation, Pa., July 26, included Sgt. Donald E. Osborne, 624 Fourth Street, this city.

Staff-Sgt. Paul D. Stanforth has gone to Savannah, Ga. for further training before receiving an assignment in the South Pacific, having spent a 30 day furlough with his wife and children, and his mother, Mrs. Omah Williams. He spent a year in Europe.

Sgt. Ralph E. Douglass, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry L. Douglass, 834 Briar Avenue, arrived home on Monday of this week after spending 22 months overseas, in Australia, and in Manila of the Philippine Islands. He will spend a 30 day furlough with his parents and friends here.

Technician fifth grade Kenneth E. Davidson, 25, son of Isaac Davidson, 106 East Paint Street, this city, has returned from service outside the continental United States and is now being processed through the Army Ground and Service Forces Redistribution Station in Miami Beach, Fla., where his next assignment will be determined.

Cpl. Davidson served 36 months as a member of a quartermaster corps unit in the American theater of operations. While there he was awarded the American campaign ribbon. Before entering the service he was employed by the Pennington Bakery, here.

SERIOUS FRACTURE SUSTAINED BY GIRL

Vivian Cyrus, 9, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lee Cyrus, was taken to Children's Hospital Thursday evening for attention as result of a fall from a swing which resulted in an unusually severe compound fracture of her right arm.

She was first taken to Dr. A. D. Woodmansee's office where the fractured arm was given temporary attention, and she was to undergo surgery at the hospital Friday morning.

NEW DEANERIES FOR CATHOLICS

Rev. F. J. Kreuskamp Chosen For This District

Rev. F. J. Kreuskamp, of Chillicothe, has been named dean of the Southern Ohio Deanery, which is one of four new deaneries established by Bishop Michael J. Ready, of the Catholic Diocese of Columbus.

The four priests named to serve as deans, and their respective territories are:

Southern—Fayette, Pickaway, Ross, Pike, Scioto and Jackson counties, Rev. F. J. Kreuskamp of Chillicothe.

Eastern—Fairfield, Perry, Hocking, Vinton and Muskingum counties, Msgr. David P. Quailley of Lancaster, dean.

Northern—Knox, Licking, Holmes, Coshocton and Tuscarawas counties, Rev. Paul J. Bernier, of Dennison.

Western—Hardin, Marion, Morrow, Delaware, Union and Madison counties, Rev. William J. Spickerman of Marion.

NEW RATINGS GIVEN A FEW CUB SCOUTS

Gardner Park Picnic Is Held On Thursday Night

Several boys of Cub Scout pack 29 have new ratings after last night when they held a picnic at Gardner Park. Their den mother, Mrs. Haskell Thompson, supervised the serving of the bountiful meal.

George Trimmer, den chief, had charge of the games and also opened the meeting. New registration cards were given to all the boys.

Advancements in rank included that of Billy Trimmer to wolf rank; Harold Cummings and George Trimmer, bear rank; Jimmy Williams to lion rank. Gold arrows were given to Junior Blair, Harold Thompson and George Trimmer, while Harold Cummings and George Trimmer were given silver arrows.

DRILLER SEEKS OIL IN TESTS NEAR ROXABEL

Drilling Starts Within 15 Miles of This City This Week

It has been many years since tests for oil were made in this immediate part of Ohio, but this week a drill was started on the Peary farm in the Lattasville-Roxabel community, by the Ohio Oil Company, with George Kissling of Junction City, in charge.

Many leases have been obtained in the community where the test well is being sunk, and Kissling is hopeful of bringing in a paying well within the next few weeks.

The derrick has been set up on the Peary farm, and the drill started in an effort to pierce the oil-bearing strata, which is found at a depth of 2,900 to 3,100 in that area, as determined by a well sunk in 1910 near Harper's Station, a few miles from the present test well.

At that time oil was found in quantities of about 12 barrels per day under pumping, but the well was capped. Kissling sunk the well, and was favorably impressed with the finding in that area.

Convinced that oil in paying quantities exists in the Roxabel-Lattasville area, Kissling has succeeded in obtaining the go signal for another well.

Nearly all wells sunk for oil and gas in this part of Ohio have produced small quantities of both, including two wells in this city, (one at the Washington Ice Company and one at the old Brownell Poultry plant on Sycamore street) as well as in the Buena Vista community.

LANUM BROTHERS MEET IN HAWAII

Letter to Parents Here Tells of Reunion After 2 Years

The Lanum brothers, Robert of the navy, and Gordon of the marines, met in the Hawaiian Islands, letters received by their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Lanum, here disclose.

They had not seen each other for more than two years, their father said with a smile that reflected the happiness both of the boys and parents.

Both of the brothers had gone into the navy. Bob, who made quite a name for himself in WHS football, stayed with the sailors but Gordon, the younger of the two, transferred to the Marine Corps.

Their father, a wounded veteran of the first war who knows what fighting is like from his own experiences in those early tanks, made no attempt to conceal normal parental joy over having the boys in the comparative safety of Hawaii as he said with a sigh "you don't know what it's like with two boys in the service. . . this war can't end too soon for us." But he conceded he could understand how they wanted to get into action.

Letters to their parents explained that the brothers had kept in touch by mail after a fashion ever since they were separated. When Bob's ship came into Hawaii, he caught a ride on a plane to the island where he knew Gordon was stationed. After that first reunion, several inter-island trips were made for short visits.

COUNTERFEIT QUARTER IS PASSED IN CITY

A counterfeit quarter, unusually well executed, and bearing date of 1944, has turned up here, being discovered by County Recorder Frank E. Whiteside.

The coin is so well moulded that it might readily pass for a good quarter if the color was not so dull.

So far as known it is the only counterfeit of its kind to come to light here for a long time.

ANOTHER COAL TRUCKER FINED

Had Failed To Collect Tax on Fuel Delivered

A relative, representing Pat Moore, coal trucker of Jackson County, facing a charge of selling coal and failing to collect the sales tax, entered a guilty plea for Moore in Justice George Worrell's court, Friday morning, and a fine of $25 and costs, amounting to $32.20 in all, was paid.

It was the third charge of its kind filed here within the past few days.

Justice Worrell said that $15 was refunded to the complainant, Goldie Ogburn, for shortage in amount of coal delivered, and that $15 was paid to Donald Shonkwiler for moving the coal out of the cellar and weighing it, making a total of $62.20 paid as result of the transaction.
